

Fewer Ear Infections & Sinus Trouble

Jack Gaiter is a 7-year-old, karate-training, fist-bump-giving, ninja-loving kid who has been coming to Revolution for five years.

When his entire family started care, Jack didn't have any major health issues going on at the time, but his parents saw value in chiropractic helping maintain overall health and wellness. Since starting care, they have noticed a reduction in sinus issues and ear infections for Jack, which they did not know could be improved through consistent chiropractic care. Jack's middle name is Gaiter, which had led to a tattoo of an alligator on his dad's arm with Jack's signature close by. Fun fact, Jack is part of the office decorating committee. Every time the office décor changes at Revolution, you should know that Jack has had a hand in it. While Jack is young, he is incredibly articulate and hilarious. He is always up for a good discussion where he brings in his sound logic and isn't afraid to speak his mind.

"I'm more healthy now that I see Dr. Jason."
